

THE WORLD.

PUBLISHED BY THE WORLD PUBLISHING COMPANY.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 8, 1906.

SUBSCRIPTION TO THE EVENING EDITION (Including Postage), PER MONTH, 30c.; PER YEAR, $3.50.

VOL. 28.....NO. 9,789

Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second-class mail matter.

THE 1888 RECORD!

New York, April 30, 1888.

We, the undersigned Advertising Agents, have examined the Circulation and Press Room Reports of THE WORLD, and also the amounts of THE Paper furnished it by various paper manufacturers, and find that the Average No. of WORLDS Printed Daily from Jan. 1, 1888, to date is as stated, viz.:

288,970 COPIES.

(Signed)
G. H. RUSSELL & CO., FACTORY & CO.,
J. H. BATES, GOODWIN & HILL,
J. H. BATES, J. F. PHILLIPS & CO.,
M. H. BATES, A. A. ANDERSON,
M. H. BATES, A. A. ANDERSON.

Circulation Books Always Open.

GOOD FEELING.

The Democrats are happy over the result at St. Louis, the Mugwumps are satisfied and the Republicans are delighted.

It is apparently an era of good feeling all around.

This is much better than sore-headism, chronic kicking and campaign cholera cramps.

Let us hope that the Republican Convention will be equally successful in satisfying everybody. It will then be a comfortable summer.

SHAM INSPECTION.

The stories told at the meeting of the Workingmen's Society last night show that of all the inspections that do not inspect those made under the Factory law are about the biggest shams.

Children under age are regularly worked like little slaves. Stairways and hallways are unprotected. In many places no fire-escapes are provided. Washing and retiring rooms are shamefully inadequate. There is no protection for young girls. Some of the inspectors, it is plainly intimated, do not see what they are paid not to see. Their number is insufficient, even if they were capable and honest.

The women are right. A concerted effort to expose the abuses will do the most good. There is no reforming influence like a focused public opinion.

TALLY HO!

Good wishes will attend Mr. BLAINE on his coaching trip through Scotland.

Now that he is out of politics, as a candidate, the Maine leader can be permitted to enjoy his good health unquestioned. No rival candidate will be interested in having the coach trip over. The glorious June weather is enough to make any sensible man who loves outdoor life declare that he would rather go fishing than be President.

No doubt Mr. BLAINE will find it much more enjoyable to go coaching than to be a candidate.

Mr. CARNEGIE's generosity is princely, but it is too bad that his workmen had to submit to a cut in wages during his lordly holiday.

PROMOTING HAPPINESS.

Mrs. CONKLIN, the Principal of Grammar School No. 1, is right. "Good cooking tends to promote happiness in our homes."

It is of far more advantage to a girl to know how to make a strawberry shortcake that is at once attractive, toothsome and easily digested, than to be able to tell the height of the mountains in South America and the length of the rivers in Africa.

Good cooking is the basis of good health, and good health is the blessing that makes all other blessings enjoyable. The public schools are doing a great work in teaching the girls how to cook and sew and the boys how to use their hands, their eyes and their judgments.

The workmen, like other citizens, are pretty nearly unanimous in the opinion that CHAUNCEY DEWEY is a mighty clever fellow, but are divided in judgment as to his strength as a Presidential candidate. The EVENING WORLD gives to-day a large number of condensed interviews on the subject that will prove interesting to the politicians.

Judge THURMAN comes up to the mark smiling, and observes that "GLADSTONE is several years older than I am." Yes, and look at Von MOLTKE and BISMARCK. Why should we let the Old World have a monopoly in veterans?

Alas! It is an unequal contest for "Fighting Phil." Death does not give a man half a chance.

The red bandanna will wipe them out.

The Misses Warburg's Reception. A reception was given by the Misses Emma and Belle Warburg on Saturday evening at their new residence, 304 East One Hundred and Twenty-second street. During the evening the company was entertained by Miss Nettie Machol and Carrie Harris of New Haven, Conn.; Miss Daisy Epstein, of Philadelphia; Misses Mattie and Rose Russell, of Brooklyn; Mr. Harry Clay de Levey, of Newark; Mr. Frank Lewis, Mr. Emanuel Soudheim, Mr. Fred Kaufman, the Misses Kaufman, Miss Sadie Hart, Miss Annette H. Tooy, Misses Mattie and Rose Landau and many others.

The Thackeray and Autocrat literary societies were well represented.

One of those bright, witty, caustic, sparkling, popular songs for which M. H. Russell is noted will be printed in Sunday's WORLD. It is called "Widow Maginn's Pig." Look out for it!

FISH, FRUIT AND VEGETABLES.

Lettuce, 5 cents.
Pineapples, 10 cents.
Brook trout, 15 cents.
Haddock, 10 cents.
Striped bass, 15 cents.
Apples, 10 cents a box.
Shad roe, 10 cents a pair.
Asparagus, 10 and 15 cents.
Tomatoes, 10 cents a quart.
Lemons, 15 cents for 10 cents.
Spinach, 15 cents a half peck.
Green turtle, 15 and 20 cents.
Pineapples, 10 to 20 cents each.
Blood peas, 10 cents a half peck.
Georgia peaches, 10 cents a dozen.
Boston marrow squash, 10 to 20 cents.
Best American cheese, 10 cents a pound.
A number of large garban, weighing about fifteen pounds each, were to be seen on the principal fish stand in Fulton market this morning.

MEN IN FULTON MARKET.

Henry Smouse is growing old, but he maintains his good nature. He is a diamond.
Louis Hess, of Walling & Hess, now wears two beautiful diamonds.
The smiling countenance of "Sam" McFarland is always on exhibition.
Michael Ryan wears a very broad smile nowadays. Recently he became a "papa."
James Bowditch, alias "Old Crane," takes a walk through the market every morning.
The Smith family is well represented—father and son, fruit dealers; father and son, poultry.
S. L. M. Barlow is frequently seen buying fruit. He goes through the market three times a week.

PERSONAL AND SPICY.

P. J. Brennan, the Bowery hotel proprietor, is said by his friends to have a quiet way of outwitting his guests when anybody is in trouble.
Young Alva Brown, the wholesale millinery salesman, is quite clever in the magic art. He is always on hand at the entertainments of the well-known wits.
"Bob" Young, of the Nicaragua Company, although a native of Scotland, is a thorough American in all his ideas and in argument always stands up for the Stars and Stripes.
"Jake" Isaac, of Washington Market, starts for his first fish next Saturday. He has a big box full of "leaders," and those who are lucky enough to be with his party will have one good time this summer.
Fred Ricketts, the engineer, now looted in the Eagle Building in Wall street, is a regular "old timer." He has been all over the country, and even if he was a "blackhead runner" during the war he was a good one.

WITH THE J. F. REILLY CLUB.

Mark Thomas, the club's chaplain.
Mike Egan, the silver-tongued orator.
The two dromies, Joe Hanley and J. Shanley.
Tom Logan, the old man eloquent of the club.
Ex-Alderman Adolph Hamman, the land-leader.
Tom Egan, the west-side champion of Prohibition.
Officer James Donnelly, one of the finest of the "Finest."
Ben Egan, who will carry a large amount of adipose tissue.
Charlie Kelly, the good-looking sergeant of the Ninth Regiment.
Frank Conroy, "the bashful fellow," who goes because it is a stag.
Alex Anderson, who knows a thing or two about steaks, chops, &c.
Plumber Ben Neuman, who is credited with being the richest member.
Billy Kennedy, the funny man, who will carry some bromide with him.
The James F. Reilly Pleasure Club will go on an excursion July 17. Among those who will be there are:

WORLDLINGS.

Senator Fair, despite the reverses he has met with in recent years, is estimated to have a fortune of $50,000,000 left.
There are twenty men in Denver who have fortunes of $1,000,000 or more, and over fifty who are worth half a million each.
It is said that a tavern in Sweden bears the sign, "English and American spoken here." Some Englishmen say there is more truth than poetry in the notice.
Senator Brown, of Georgia, has two sons who, unlike most sons of statesmen, are bright and young fellows. One of them, the eldest, is a railroad president and a man of culture and aesthetic tastes.
Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, the author, is fortynine years old. Her first literary venture was a story written when she was thirteen and published in the Youth's Companion. The best known of her books, "Gates Ajar," she began in 1864.
Miss Kittie Wilkins, the celebrated "Horse Queen," of Brunen, Idaho, is a tall blonde of graceful figure and prepossessing appearance. She is cultivated in mind and manners, and talks well and with animation on almost any topic.
A young girl who eloped with the man of her choice from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., the other day, was agreed enough to induce him to assign all his property over to her before she would consent to the elopement. The property is valued at $5,000.
A rare avis, in the shape of an intoxicated Chinaman, was seen on Broadway last Sunday night. He stalked along, singing a Chinese song at the top of his lungs. A few feet ahead of him was a companion, who looked ashamed at his countryman's conduct.
Ned Stallings, while hunting in Buffalo Gap, Tex., fell asleep under a tree. His companion took advantage of the nap to drop a horse load on his back, which caused the latter to be killed away at the joker with his Winchester rifle, fortunately missing him.

To a Chicago reporter who was interviewing him a few days ago, Robert Louis Stevenson said: "Don't ask me anything about 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.' I'm sick and tired of it. Ask me anything about my other books, but I've heard 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde' until it makes me sick."

Two little pigs were walking along the Texas Pacific Railroad track, when a train came along and as they fled in opposite directions, the train decapitated them both at the same time, leaving their heads exactly opposite each other, one pointing east, and the other west. The owner recovered $50 from the company.

On the "Hash-Knife" ranch, which is located on the Pecos River, in New Mexico, Jake Owen, a cowboy, bears an ugly reminder of a rattlesnake's bite, which took effect in the soft flesh between the thumb and forefinger of the right hand, causing the thumb, first and second fingers to wither away, leaving only three useless bones. Notwithstanding this disadvantage, he is one of the most expert lassoers on the river.

The Peculiar

porting and reviving qualities of Hood's Sarsaparilla are just what are needed to expel disease and fortify the system against the debilitating effects of warm weather. Every year increases the popularity of Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it is just what people need at this season. If you have never tried it, do so, and you will be convinced of its peculiar merits.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by druggists. 61c. for $5. Prepared by C. L. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

VIEWS ON DEWEY.

What the Wage-Workers Think and Say About Him.

Great Diversity of Opinion Among Railroad Men.

Interviews Obtained by "The Evening World" Young Men from Leaders of Labor Organizations and Employees in the Railroad Yards—That Mr. Dewey Is the Head of a Great Corporation the Strongest Objection Urged Against Him—His Personal Popularity.

To get for its readers some general idea of the feeling that is entertained by wage-workers for Mr. Chauncey M. Dewey as a candidate for the Presidency, THE EVENING WORLD young men have gone among labor leaders and others, and gathered a large number of individual opinions which are spread out below. Many men representing large labor organizations, either as officers or delegates, declined to express their views on the ground that it would not be well for them to do so at present. Enough has been gleaned, however, to make a very interesting story.

Most of the labor men interviewed have a high opinion of Mr. Dewey personally, but many of them doubt if he would receive a large labor vote. That he is the head of a big corporation is urged as the greatest objection. It is also set forth that his election as President would hasten the culmination of the battle between labor and capital. Some of the labor leaders think that he would be weak, and some a strong candidate.

THE EVENING WORLD reporters who interviewed the men employed in the yards at the Grand Central Railroad Company, of which Mr. Dewey is President, find that they are enthusiastically for him, but many men in the yards of other railroad companies do not share these views.

THE LABOR LEADERS.

Here is what labor leaders say:

John J. Reilly, of the Fourteenth Assembly District organization of the United Labor Party, thinks Mr. Dewey is a strong candidate.

Patrick J. Doody, a prominent member of the United Labor Party, considers one of the old party candidates as good as the other.

John Ryan, street-car conductor and member of the County Central Committee of the United Labor Party from the Second District—Outside of his position as President of a railroad, I think he would carry the State, but as the head of the Central Railroad the workingmen will go against him.

Dr. P. McArthur, one of the heads of the United Labor Party of the Twenty-third Assembly District—Think Dewey has a good chance and would carry the State.

Joseph W. Parker, a leader of the United Labor Party of the Twenty-fourth District—Personally, there could not be a more elegant gentleman than Mr. Dewey. I think he would be elected, but if he were elected, because he is the head of a big corporation, would bring on the inevitable fight at the sooner.

E. J. Surver, Secretary of the Metal Exchange, and member of the United Labor Party—Opera bouffe. One thing, it would make a distinct issue on the tariff question.

Michael Foley, clothing salesman and Chairman of the Second District organization of the United Labor Party—I don't think the working people will support the Vanderbilt party.

Robert Davis, Delegate of the Operative Painters' Union—I think he is a good candidate, but I would not be a good candidate.

J. J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I would like to see a man like Gressman before the people.

John Dolan, Secretary of the Rectors Labor Party—I think he would make a good fight. He is the strongest man outside of Blaine.

William McNair, a Knight of Labor in the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

A. A. Sander, manager of the United Labor Party—He is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

George W. Dunne, of District Assembly No. 49 of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

William J. Sullivan, a member of the United Labor Party—I think he is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Dewey is just as strong as any one else. In the West he would be beaten unless they put a strong effort on the tail end of the ticket. I think a good ticket would be Dewey and Gresham.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

Matthew Foley, baggage department—Dewey is a strong candidate, but I think he is not a friend of the workingman.

HAVE YOU GOT A BANDANNA?

BETTER SURE UP BEFORE THEY ARE ALL GONE.

The Red Square to Take the Place of the Old Rose in the Coming Presidential Battle—The Plume of Blaine and White Hat of Greeley in Silk and Cotton—Will It Be a Swift Campaign, Too?

Since the days of the roses of Lancaster and York, by which emblems the intense partisans of these warring rival houses were distinguished, some prominent peculiarity of the leaders in every contest the world over has been selected to denote his followers from his enemies.

Four years ago the plume was worn in parade by the followers of the Plumed Knight of Maine, Horace Greeley's old white hat was reproduced a million-fold on the heads of his admirers and supporters in the campaign of 1872, and the "wide awakes" of 1860 denoted the friends of Abraham Lincoln.

This year, notwithstanding the decree that the Democrats shall wear the red, red rose in the opening campaign and the Republicans the white, the more prominent and catching emblem of the Democracy will be the red bandanna, for since most of the voters of 1888 were boys the red bandanna of Allen G. Thurman, the Vice-Presidential candidate of the St. Louis Convention, has been familiar to the nation.

Thurman's bandanna was used by him with good effect while he was in the United States Senate. When he pulled it out of one corner from his coat pocket his Republican opponents on the Senate floor knew that it was a declaration of war.

It is related that once while he was delivering one of his relentless, persistent, overwhelming torrents of logic in the Senate, Matt Carpenter, of Wisconsin, and another of the old school, began a conversation just behind him. He stood it for a moment only, then yanking a yard square of red bandanna from his coat tails he turned and commanded: "Stop that talking!"

Then he blew a stentorian blast from his terrible nose and went on with his speech. He got no further interruptions.

Thurman's bandanna is always made of pure silk, originally from France, but now of Scotch importation. The trade in these goods has been almost dead of late years, say the merchants, but the nomination of Thurman has already killed the bandanna market, and the dealers in goods have put in heavy orders for this class of goods.

Thurman's bandanna is turkey red with a pattern in yellow or gold. This class of goods range in size from eighteen to thirty-two inches square, and in price at from $6 to $10 a dozen, retailing at $1 to $1.50 each.

The bandanna has been long a favorite of the St. Louis convention in the diversity of its uses.

Bandannas were used as banners, flags, and handkerchiefs, and will come in play as napkins, table-covers and for other uses.

Of course, there will be variations from Thurman's brand of bandannas, for they will be expensive for wholesale campaign work. And already an enterprising cotton manufacturer announces that he has perfected the design for and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

Thurman's bandanna is a square of cotton, and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

Thurman's bandanna is a square of cotton, and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

Thurman's bandanna is a square of cotton, and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

Thurman's bandanna is a square of cotton, and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

Thurman's bandanna is a square of cotton, and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

Thurman's bandanna is a square of cotton, and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

Thurman's bandanna is a square of cotton, and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

Thurman's bandanna is a square of cotton, and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

Thurman's bandanna is a square of cotton, and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

Thurman's bandanna is a square of cotton, and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

Thurman's bandanna is a square of cotton, and is now turning out a bandanna of a thousand dollars a yard.

NONE MORE WIDELY READ.

Advertising Agent Hall's Tribute to "The Evening World."

While taking his daily constitutional an Evening World reporter encountered Mr. W. H. Hall, the well-known advertising man.

Greetings were exchanged and Mr. Hall led off with: "Do you remember the notice in THE EVENING WORLD about me covering ground like a streak of lightning?"

According to the admission he had received in his youth to always speak the truth, the reporter admitted some knowledge on the subject.

Mr. Hall said: "Well, I guess five hundred people shared me the paper. For the next week wherever I went I was questioned as to whether I had seen it. I have even received marked copies by mail."